Hollow Tears

Met agony in the elevator
Dark in your eyes, that old invader
A poisoned hymn, a whispered spell
You pray inside your mind's own cell

We drift between these haunted floors
The light grows dim, the sorrow roars

Hollow tears fall down
Old restless ghosts on rewind
How silently we drown
In what cannot be left behind
The doors slide wide; we've reached your floor
You're still behind some other door

Next night, same ride, the same descent
Each thought returns with ill intent
You hold your breath; the memory plays
One scene repeats; your life decays

You feed the dark the breath you spare
I've knelt before that same despair

Hollow tears fall down
Old restless ghosts on rewind
I know how slow we drown
I built a chapel in my mind
The doors slide wide; we've reached your floor
I stood behind that other door

I wore my verdict, wore my shame
I mourned a death, that never came

Let the tears fall down
Let the restless ghosts rewind
I've learned I will not drown
In haunted rooms inside my mind
The doors slide wide; I reach my floor
The ghosts still call, I leave, once more

(Let the tears fall down)
Haunted rooms inside your mind
(Let the tears fall down)
Live, with ghosts inside

Let the tears fall down
(Let the tears fall down)
Let the tears fall down
